

Resolution 1982

April 1982

Whereas: There seems to be great confusion relating to Christian initiation and the reception of holy communion, and

Whereas: It is dangerous for the church to be confused about such an important area of its life; therefore

Be it resolved: That the Houses of Bishops and the commissions dealing with worship in our two churches* be urged to solve the ambiguities and the resulting confusion in terms of our churches official teaching that Holy Baptism effects the fullness of Christian initiation.
